TO STANDARD.

Montevideo, May 10th.

Considerable surprise has been excited by a statement in your "on'Change" column to the effect that there is not a cent of European capital in the Bank of the Republic as it was started on a million of consolidated bonds which will ultimately have to be pawned off on the local market. Referring to this paragraph, the President made to me the following statement: "Tell the STANDARD that it has been misinformed. The money for the Bank of the Republic came out here in part cash and, as the bank building was not ready to receive it when it arrived, it was deposited in the vaults of the London Bank, and part of the capital was obtained by drafts on London negotiated at a very good rate. The Bank has never had more than $6C0,000 worth of the consolidated bonds and they are perfectly negotiable, did we desire to turn them into cash. Furthermore no step whatever has been taken towards placing the four million war loan, either through the Bank of the Republic or through Glyn, Mills, Currie and Co., such a step may be taken later should we find it advisable; but at present the loan has not yet been voted by the Senate and consequently it is not authorised."

You will remember that when the correspondent of the Financial News was here he was taken down into the vaults of the Bank and shown the gold.

At the time when I saw the President at his house, two o'clock, there had come no news of any engagement between Lamas and the government forces. It is thought that the heavy rains fallen lately will interfere with the movements of the troops by causing the streams to overflow.

LATER.

Have made further investigations in regard to Bank of the Republic. A prominent financier, representative of a great English bank and whose business is to keep himself perfectly "au courant" with all that goes on in this market, tells me that the sum in Consolidated Bonds held by bank amounts to only 456,000, and that these bonds represent judicial deposits of which 80 % must, by law and according to charter of bank, be invested and held in these consolidated bonds. Furthermore, far from emptying the bank, Government has not even used all or the million credit which charter of bank allows it. It has paid war expenses, so far, out of the tobacco tax and proceeds of extra 2½ % import duties, and has on hand a large part of gold represented in market by the treasury notes.

LATEST.

This afternoon I wired you the facts in regard to Bank of Republic. Since then I have spoken with several persons, "in the know," and all are surprised at such a statement appearing in STANDARD in contradiction to its statements in preceding numbers.

For the past two days General Muñoz, Commander of Canelones division, is encamped near San Ramon. The authorities of Uruguayana have seized twelve cases of ammmunition destined for the rebels, forwarded to this country, a quantity of linen and clothes and $320 in cash for the wounded in the civil war. General Muñoz has disbanded five hundred of his troops to permit them to return to their agricultural labors. Saravia has appointed Acevedo Diaz, acountant of rebel forces. Colonel Morosini of Argentine army is reported to be in Concordia. General Vasquez has proposed to the E.P. the formation of a brigade of cavalry, four thousand strong, to be composed of the first, second, third and fourth divisions of central Departments.

Minister Frias in his own name, and in name of General Tajes, begs the local press to contradict the statement that be had received official telegrams announcing the defeat of Villar by Lamas.

The French steamer Pampa has brought two more batteries of cannon which have been taken to artillery barracks.

The manœuvres and a mock combat were carried out yesterday in spite of the bad weather. The urban battalion, the brigade of public safety and various police battalions took part. The manœuvres were witnessed by President and Ministers of War and Government and about three hundred distinguished spectators, comprising Congressmen and officers The precision of the movements of the different troops engaged excited admiration of spectators. The simulated conflict finished with a lunch provided by Monsieur Pascual who was present dressed as a gaucho. In the mock combat 20,000 blank cartridges were fired.

Yesterday's bad weather caused postponement of the football match between the Albion Club and combined English fleet.

To-morrow the President offers a banquet in his private residence to Sr. Santa Cruz the departing Chilian Minister.

As usual General Tajes is reported as about to return this week. The extraordinary envoy seems to be enjoying his stay in your city and to be loath to leave; but he has done excellent service to his Government during his stay.

There is no fresh news from seat of war, the continued rain preventing any movement of forces.

Stand-by-O'Gorman.

THE WAR.

Great Battle Imminent.

Hopes of Peace.

The Donor of the 937,000 francs.

Rome, 10th—The first anniversary of the death of M. Jules Simon, the great philosopher and firm friend of France, was celebrated here to-day.

Madrid, 10th—The Spanish troops captured to-day, after hard fighting, the towns of Mendez and Nuñez garrisoned by strong forces of rebels, who lost very heavily and retreated to the forests.

Athens, 10th—The German Minister in this capital has received instructions to support the negotiations for peace initiated by his colleagues accredited by the other European Powers.

London, 10th—Lord Salisbury declared to-night in the House of Lords that only a fraction of the Greek Government—not the entire Cabinet—was disposed to accept the mediation of the Powers in favour of the cessation of the war with Turkey. The Prime Minister, however, expressed the opinion that the present difficulties would shortly be overcome, and confirmed the withdrawal from Crete of the Greek forces as well as the acceptance by King George's Government of autonomy for that island.

Arta, 10th—Several unimportant skirmishes occurred to-day in Epirus between Greek volunteer-bands and Turkish troops.

Paris, 10th—A telegram from Athens states that the majority of the Greeks are resigned to the withdrawal of the Hellenic army from Crete. A few journals continue to protest against the measure.

Madrid, 10th—The results of the Municipal elections known so far are in favour of the Government Party.

Madrid, 10th—Socialist disturbances occurred in the large cities, some of a very serious nature. The worst occurred in Bilbao, where the Police, after the usual warning, fired on the rioters, wounding several of them dangerously. Telegrams from Almeira announce the occurrence of similar disturbances; one of the rioters was killed and several were wounded.

Deptford, 10th—Four hundred and forty four Argentine steers; were sold to-day at 38 to 42 pence per stone also 2823 wethers at 48 to 52 pence per stone. All the steers offered were sold, there being a fair demand. The whole stock of wethers has been sold; there was a brisk demand.

London, 10th—The prices of 23 to 24 pence for Argentine frozen mutton have not changed. Beef has been placed at prices between 31 and 36 pence per stone for inferior parts.

London, 10th—Several well known financiers here predict a great fall shortly in Uruguayan Bonds, as the idea prevails that the Revolution will triumph, and that the rebel forces will march on Montevideo before long.

Athens, 10th—The Turkish troops continue their advance on Domokos. The Greek forces cantoned there number 10,000 men, all eager to fight, according to telegrams received from that locality. A battle appears imminent, and it is thought that it will take place to-day.

Athens, 10th—Two hundred of those wounded at the battle of Velestina arrived here to-day. It is feared that a much greater number remained on the battle field, where they were doubtless murdered by the Turks, or succumbed to their wounds through lack of medical assistance.

Paris, 10th—It is known to-day that the anonymous sender of 937,000 francs to the Baron de Mackau for distribution amongst the charity societies which lost through the fire at the Bazaar in the Rue Jean Goujon, is the Baroness Hirsch, widow of the late Baron Hirsch.

Paris, 10th—Baroness Hirsch is not the donor of the 937,000 francs sent to Baron Mackau President of the Grand Charity Bazaar burnt down in Rue Jean Goujon. The Havas Agency, duly authorized, denied the statement this afternoon.

London, 10th—It is asserted that the Great Powers have telegraphed to their respective Admirals who are blockading Crete ordering them to allow Greek vessels to embark the troops on that island for Greece. The Greek Government had asked the Powers for permission to do so which shows that the proposals of Ralli's Cabinet to be of a conciliatory nature.

Vienna, 10th—Telegrams received this morning from Thessaly state that the vanguards of the Greek and Turkish armies are in touch a few leagues from Damokos. The Sultan's troops have, as always, a large number of guns, and it is believed that the Greeks will again be defeated, in spite of the good positions they occupy.

Paris, 10th—There is every confidence in a speedy end to the Greco-Turco conflict. The leading men here opine that the negotiations for peace will be easily carried out, and that a friendly treaty between the two powers will shortly be signed. It is already known that Greece has semi-officially declared to the representative of the powers that she will accepte Home Rule for Crete in the form deemed expedient by the powers. The press here and in other large European cities comments very favourably on the decision of Greece, and seconds the efforts of the Powers to solve the conflict.

Paris, 10th—It is asserted now that the donor of the 937,000 francs is a Catholic lady whose name is known only to the Archbishop Richard and to Baron Mackau.

Rome, 10th—In the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon the Government was interpellated respecting the customs-question and was asked to declare their intentions in reference to the United States. The Minister of Commerce, Signor Branca, and the Prime Minister, Rudini replied that though the new prohibitive tariff was to be deplored yet the Italian Government did not think fit to make reprisals. The Marquis added that he and his colleagues favoured fresh commercial treaties and desired to give every possible impulse to Italian Trade.

Paris, 10—The press recognises as a very auspicious sign the interchange of telegrams between the legislative Chambers of France and Italy in connection with the catastrophe in the Rue Jean Goujon.

Athens, 10th—In official circles it is asserted that the Great Powers have already fixed the terms of the note to be simultaneously presented to Turkey and Greece. The impression gains ground that peace will soon be arranged.

Constantinople, 10th — The triumphs now being obtained by the Turkish arms are being everywhere celebrated. Edhem Pachá has received a special mark of approbation from the Sultan and many officers have been promoted a grade.

Athens, 10th—News from Damokos is anxiously awaited, as it is said that a battle has already commenced, though despatches from headquarters state that at mid-day nothing of particular importance has occurred.

THIS MORNING'S TELEGRAMS.

(Received after Midnight.)

Paris, 10th—M. Lepine, the Police Prefect of Paris, was to-day interviewed by a delegation from the Municipal Council with reference to the causes which led to the fire in the bazaar. In reply M. Lepine said that though he knew nothing positively, yet he was inclined to think that it was due to imprudence on the part of one of the men engaged in handling the cinematograph, adding that the police were actively prosecuting the inquiry. The delegation thereupon begged the Prefect to take such steps as should render impossible in the future a repetition of the late tragedy.

Constantinople, 10th—Marshal Osman Pacha returned to the Capital this afternoon, as his presence in Epirus or Thessaly is no longer necessary. The populace accorded him an ovation, and accompanied him to the Palace amid enthusiastic cheers.

PRESIDENTIAL UTTERANCES.

Although it may be assumed that the political and financial sections (already translated by us) of President Uriburu's message exhaust all the interest attaching to this periodical State document, the remaining chapters, jejune though they appear to us, are not wholly devoid of instructiveness. We shall therefore proceed to extract, for the benefit of those of our readers who have not time to digest the entire Message, the essence of information contained therein. There is, for instance, a chapter on our railways. Nothing could be more meagre than His Excellency's remarks on this subject. He does not even tell the Chambers what the aggregate length of the railways is, and we are quite sure that the majority of his listeners, on the opening of Congress, had no more idea of the length of the net works than they have of that of the canals which astronomers have discovered in Mars. Yet, could there be a more important barometer of the country's development than the working of the railways? In Europe, the acute investor watches our railway-returns. So long as they keep up he is content. If they fall, he knows that the country's vitality has been affected. H. E. appears to have overlookad this fact, or, possibly, the National Railway Board, to which no doubt the task of composing a chapter on our railways had been confided, did not find time to collate the requisite data. As a matter of fact the President confines himself to a few statements. He tells us that the laws passed with regard to the construction of railways are being carried out; that the line between Patquia and Chilecito is being completed, also that between Rioja and Salta al Carril, that before the end of May the slumbers of the inhabitants of Talamayuna, who sleep and snore at a distance of 35 kilometres from Rioja, will be disturbed by the whistle of the locomotive; that the "siesta" of the Riojanos themselves will be similarly troubled at the end of the year; that the works of the Bahia Blanca and North Western are being pushed forward; that the terminus Toay will be reached very shortly: that the Western Railway Co. have begun their line from Trenquelauquen to Toay and will have finished it in October; that the Southern Railway Co. are extending their rails to Neuquen, the earthworks having been already completed to kilom. 112, the rails reaching kil. 95, that tenders have been called for the extension of the Toma-Dolores Line to Renca; that plans are being made out for lines to Guachipas, to Bolivia, from Salado to Caa-Cati, from San Juan to Patquia, from Aurora to La Banda; that the Paso de Los Libres Branch and that of the Rosario Railway to the Tigre have been completed—in a word that of the 1272 kilometres of railway in construction 370 have been finished.

Such, without much attempt on our part at brevity, is the information His Excellency has vouchsafed to the country on so important a subject as our railways. We may supplement his remarks by stating that there are some 15,000 kilometres of railway in operation, and that before the middle of next year the figure will probably be 17,000. Week by week, our London friends will see in our columns the statements of traffic-returns, which are an accurate barometer of the country's progress. With regard to the proposed new Central Station, the President says that the works may be begun shortly, as he has received several offers upon which he is bestowing his attention.

Turn we now to another subject treated by His Excellency in similarly jejune fashion, and which, if not in the same practical plane as the railways, is nevertheless even more closely bound up with the future of the country. We allude to the question of education. H. E. points out that the more advanced nations of the world are still in doubt as to the best system of education. This is very true. What is equally true is that Argentina, in spite of its veneer of civilization and the number of its schools, is very backward in the training of youth; but, as we repeatedly said when treating on this delicate subject, much of the perverseness of youth may be directly traced to the looseness of home-training. With all our schools and our universities, there is as much indolence and idlenesss and uselessness as ever, as a glance at the principal walks of life will quickly convince even the most indulgent. This indolence, which has all the appearance of a national vice, is a great drawback to the moral and intellectual development of the nation. As General Mitre, perhaps the most illustrious of Argentine thinkers, shews in an article in our local Review, Biblioteca, there is even no literature here. But these are questions too deep for the columns of a newspaper, or even for a presidential message. His Excellency lightly calls attention to the great progress of education in our midst, as proved by the great increase in the number of schools and in school attendance. Last year there were 3,778 schools, 9,035 masters and mistresses and an attendance of 330,961, that is 463 schools, 520 masters and 45,017 boys and girls, more than in 1895. It would be interesting to follow these figures to their sources and endeavor to ascertain how far the intellectual level of the nation has been raised by the increase H. E. so complacently refers to.

A GREAT SCHEME.

From Mr. Dobson's letter at foot, addressed to Don Emilio Mitre y Vedia, the reader will gather that another noble scheme is mooted, the importance of which could scarcely be exaggerated. It may be compared in its scope and transcendental value to the Madero port works. Just as the latter are the conception of a distinguished Argentine, the late Don Eduardo Madero, this new scheme is fathered also by a son of the soil, Don Emilio Mitre y Vedia, son of General Mitre. The scheme is to construct a canal from the Madero Port to the deep waters of the Parana: we may say it is the complement of the Madero port, for, apart from the enormous advantages to navigation which we need not discuss, this canal will flush our docks and basins, which would be an incalculable benefit to the public health of this city—a question of even more importance than navigation. We congratulate Mr. Emilio Mitre y Vedia on his scheme, and it could have no better recommendation than the approval of such a great authority as Mr. Dobson. The following is the letter:—

Buenos Aires, May 8th.

Dear Mr. Mitre,

It will be a pleasure for you to know that, accompanied by our engineer Mr. Lange, I personally went over the greater part of the track of the projected canal to connect Buenos Aires with Rosario. On Thursday we steamed over the River Capitan, and the excursion has served to confirm the opinion I gave you that the best plan to pursue would be that adopted, or in other words navigate the River Lujan along the greater part of its course, and then cut away up to the River Parana de las Palmas. We steamed up the Parana as far as the River Carabelas, opposite the mouth of which we propose the canal to enter the Parana.

Yesterday, Friday, we steamed up the Lujan far beyond the proposed point of intersection of the Canal, less than a league and a half from the railway bridge. The more I study the project, the more it pleases me as a work of the greatest National interest. On Tuesday, our steamer, which only draws 5 feet, 6 in., could not cross the bar of the Lujan river, and we, therefore, had to remain anchored opposite to San Isidro the whole night, during the heavy storm. On Wednesday it was necessary to turn back, and descend the Capitan in order to reach the wharf at San Fernando.

What a change there will be when steamers of the heaviest draught which come to the Plate can go directly from the Port of Buenos Aires to the River Parana in the centre of which, according to our soundings, there is a depth of 47 feet! I venture to predict that this scheme will be an accomplished fact in the near future. For myself I do not think that you can exaggerate the great advantages which will accrue from the carrying out of this work, looking at it from a naval point of view, and the development of the country, which will be furthered by the construction of the canal.

I am thinking of starting from Buenos Aires in a special steamer at the beginning of next week, in order to visit all the principal ports on the Paraná, between the river Carabelas and Rosario, in order to see what has to be done in each one, as it is most important that everyone of them should have facilties for shipping. Meanwhile, it is a pleasure for me to advise you that the soundings made in the River Capitan, Paraná de las Palmas and Lujan confirm our opinion that the route selected is the best.

Yours sincerely,
James M. Dobson.

THE WAR IN EUROPE.

Events are crowding fast together, now that the Moslem is only one day's march from the sacred frontiers of Hellas. Prince Constantine, the unlucky Commander-in-Chief, has fallen back with the remnants of his brave little army on the second line of defences, running from the high ground at Thaumaco in an easterly direction to Armyros, about five miles from the shores of the Volo Gulf. The position is said to be strong, but the Turks are vastly superior in numbers and the odds are decidedly against the Greeks. In the last five engagements we have invariably seen the Greek hold out bravely at the outset, till the reserves of the Moslem came up and then decided the day at the point of the bayonet.

If beaten at Thaumaco and Armyros, the Greeks have not far to go to fall back on the Othrys range, the frontiers of Hellas. Both Prince Constantine on the left and Colonel Smolenski on the right, will have to converge on Lamia, behind the Othrys. Here the Greeks will have splendid positions to protect them from the Turkish advance. In these passes are the keys to Hellas, for behind Lamia lies the famous Thermopylæ with the tomb of Leonidas. We may take it for granted that the neo-Greeks will gather fresh forces from the historic antecedents of the battle ground, and they will fight as Greeks never fought before to preserve Hellas from the tread of the Moslem and the bomb of the old hero from profanation by the Turk. At this last point the Euzonoi may redeem the failures of the campaign, if not, Edhem Pasha gallops in a canter to the foot of the Acropolis.

But long before it comes to fighting to the South of the Othrys, we may take it for granted that the Great Powers will mediate. The Sublime Porte will be only too eager to listen to mediation and not push matters too far. As for the Greeks they must abandon all hopes of getting Janina, their Mount Olympus, the Pindus, Epirus! Dreams that are now vanished. Lucky, indeed, if they keep Thessaly and get off with a war indemnity. The Greek will not curse the Moslem, for he has been beaten in a fair fight, but he will curse the Great Powers and curse his King. "Kata tous Europaious!" "Kata tou Basilea!" will resound through the streets of Athens, and all the cities of Hellas and Morea. We shall probably see the classic Athenian and the Corinthian haberdasher settle down into a republican government, convinced that an appeal to democracy in the future may prove more effectual than one to Christian dynasties.

The behaviour of Edhem Pasha's troops throughout this campaign in Thessaly appears to be unimpeachable. All through, the Moslem has displayed singular moderation, even with irregular forces, great organization, superior strategy, and undoubted bravery. One can imagine the elated feelings of the Porte and his subjects: and both Servia and Bulgaria must be putting their "barba en remojo," to use a Spanish expression, with their discomfiture over the sudden events in favor of the Porte. The Sick Man has sickened them with his victories.

LONDON LETTER.

(From our own Correspondent)

A WARLIKE ASPECT.

April, 10th.

"Had the statesmen of Europe been all idiots, they could not have made a worse muddle of the Cretan question or have shown greater imbecility in their treatment of the Sultan." This is a quotation from the letter of the Constantinople correspondent of the Speaker. The same authority writes lovingly of the "good intentions" of Lord Salisbury and of the wise efforts of the Concert of Europe in the cause of peace. Last night it was all peace and dullness. To-day the dulness remains, but the news is warlike. The Ethnike Hetairia seems to have lost patience, and while Russian and British troops are nearing Crete, the so called insurgents, that is the picked troops of the National League, have bounded over the frontier between Thessaly and Macedonia. According to the intelligence transmitted to us by wire, the Greek invaders are already surrounded by the Turkish troops under the command of Edhem Pasha, and in the depths of a thick forest they have been fighting for twelve hours. Consulting a half ejected tape on one of the Exchange Telegraph company's machines, I observe that a second edition of the Times reports the holding of a Council of War at Elassona, and that the Turkish Commander-in-Chief is meditating a general advance on the Greek position. In that case a common opinion here is that the Greeks will be simply trampled over by the warlike Osmanlis, and that what we shall hear of will not be battles, but massacres. However that may be, we are certainly witnessing the first puffs of smoke in a long threatened contest, the main interest of which is its limitation. England, under Lord Salisbury's guidance and Mr. Curzon's explanation of his policy, is playing the role of policeman, and, like all servants, she objects to work that is not her place to do. Hence, as we are told, the blockade of the Greek ports did not come off, because the allied fleets were not equal to the effectual blockade of both Crete and Greece, and when the emperors who had not ships enough of their own to send suggested that England should do it, Lord Salisbury very properly made use of strong language. For his lordship has other fish to fry. Admiral Rawson, who commands the British squadron at the Cape, is under sealed orders, but everyone knows his destination is Delagoa bay. Meanwhile, unless the Turks, the Cossacks and Highlanders are very active in sweeping away Colonel Vassos and the forces of the King of Greece, we shall be mostly occupied in watching the development of questions between the members of the European concert itself. With the exception of Great Britain, whose interests in the near East are somewhat abstract and self imposed, each of the other members, Germany included, has a direct and vital interest in what Mr. Curzon in his speech at Southport called "the distribution of the bankrupt stock of the Turkish empire". The possession by Russia of the Bosphorus means the protectorate of the Balkan States more closely affecting the interests of central Europe than would the appearance of a permanent Russian fleet in the Mediterranean as one amongst many others. Hence, as Mr. Cuzon explained, no single power—not even Greece—can be allowed to help herself to a part of the spoils, which are to be kept intact for the present, until the Concert is ready to superintend the distribution, at which ceremony we are to attend again in the capacity of Constable. A very intelligible policy, but, just like that of Castlereagh and Metternich, it entirely overlooks national aspirations and that mysterious movement of the world which goes on independently of the passing views and intrigues of statesmen. For example, one of the national aspirations of the hour is the intense desire in France to recover her lost provinces. We have nothing to do with either its wisdom or its folly. It exists, like any other passion in humanity. To that passion she has temporarily sacrificed her position in the van of liberal and civilised matters for the sake of an alliance with a despotic power. On the other hand, every politician sees with Prince Bismarck that the true interests of Germany point to a Russian alliance, which Russia will gladly accept under certain conditions. The possibilities that suggest themselves under this one view would prompt anyone to ask why, for the sake of a patched up peace, is Lord Salisbury fiddle-faddling in Greece against the wishes even of his own party, when this country should be husbanding her resources for the protection of her own colonies, if not of the freedom of Western Europe? Sir Charles Dilke for years has been warning us against the danger of a certain European coalition. Our best allies are the freedom-loving nations he now offends and persecutes. This much is suggested by the telegrams of to-day. To-morrow we may have quite different news, and I often wonder what you make of it all in Buenos Aires, with less detailed information than we possess, scrappy and unreliable as it is.

The weekly journals, political and financial are soulless this Saturday. A pleasant gleam of sunshine gilds the smoke of our cigars, as we talk of football and the coming holidays. There is an interdict on the words "Greece" and "Salisbury."

UNITED STATES NOTES.

The wheat crop outlook in the United States was reported by Thoman's agency to be encouraging, and to point to a considerably larger crop than was either planted or harvested last year. The condition of the winter wheat crop for the whole country was 88 % against 80.6 % last year. In the six great commercial supply States east of the Rocky Mountains it was 81 % against 76.4 %, and in the Pacific coast States 101 % against 95.3 %. The area under cultivation is over 8 % greater than that from which last year's crop was harvested.

A careful investigation shows that the area under cultivation for spring wheat will be fully 20 % greater than last year. Of the principal States, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota show an increased average of from 22 % to 30 %, and Oregon, Washington and North Dakota of from 7 % to 14 %.

Here is a good illustration of the way in which misinformation about this country is spread. How a person could apply some of the statements quoted, to the Argentine, is hard to comprehend. The quotations are from the "New York Journal of Commerce," and the statements were made by a Grand Rapids furniture manufacturer "just returned from a four months trip through Central and South America." He says:

"The prospects for business in (with) those Republics is encouraging: the English and French goods are well represented in the Argentine Republic, Chile, etc. Iron bedsteads are preferred to wood, 'and the great majority are English.' He was informed by Buenos Aires furniture dealers that American iron bedsteads manufacturers were now 'able to compete with European makers.'"

"The furniture industry is in its infancy ..... What they make is of the plainest kind, and made by carpenters who are called manufacturers." This last statement is such a remarkable misstatement of facts as far as this country is concerned, that it seems impossible that any one visiting us and investigating in the most perfunctory manner, could have made it. It seems strange that the visiting manufacturer did'nt become aware of how much of the English, French, etc., furniture was made here, and that a large majority of the iron beds used here were manufactured right in this city. The cheap furniture is undoubtedly made by cheap workmen, but we wouldn't advise our North American critic to try to compete with them. There can be seen at Thompson's, Glaser's, or the Exposition Ingles, at any time, furniture made in this country that would attract attention for its beauty and workmanship in any shop in England or the States. There is to-day in the windows of the Exposition Ingles an inlaid rosewood chamber set, that is of beautiful design and the workmanship is equal to any.

The fact is, the duty on imported furniture is almost prohibitory here, and everything is being done to foster the home furniture industry. Certain specialties must be imported, but that there is, or is going to be, any any great opening for imported furniture from the States or anywhere else, is not true.

SHEEP.

ENGLISH SHEEP-BREEDERS AND ARGENTINE.

(From the Mark Lane Express.)

The eyes of numerous sheep-breeders are turned longingly and lovingly on Argentina. At the meeting of Devon Longwool breeders held on March 5th, at which a Flock-book Society was established, the chairman, Mr. A. C. Skinner, is reported as saying that, "From the reports that he and others had received from foreign flock-owners, it seemed that there would be a demand for this breed in the Argentine Republic and other countries," and it is very probable this has been one important reason for the Devon Longwool men to take action just now. Theirs has been almost the only breed of importance in England left without a flock-book so long, and without registration no country can be expected to take any large number of any breed of sheep. The Lincoln flockmasters have so long enjoyed almost a monopoly of the trade of Argentina, and this variety seems so well adapted to that country, that they do not fear competition very much. But a great many Shropshire sheep have been exported to the River Plate likewise, so many indeed that an Argentine Shropshire Flock-book has already been formed. Much is made of the fact that not only graziers in South America, but also those in New Zealand absolutely require the Shropshire breed for crossing purposes, to make their mutton sell better in the English market.

All this is extremely encouraging, and we do not see why the interests of English sheep breedeers here at home should be deemed to clash simply, because their eyes are turned in the same direction for the disposal of their rams and surplus ewes. We may be well assured that there are differences in soils and situations both in Argentina and New Zealand, some of which are more favourable to one of our English breeds than the others. Here at home everybody knows it to be the case, and why should it not be so elsewhere. Then again, the regions requiring sheep breeding improvement are so extensive. No doubt it is a fact that the more they improve the greater will be their facilities for sending mutton back to England, but our breeders cannot hold their hands out of consideration for this. According to rumours from the United States a very considerable demand for rams of various British breeds may be looked for very soon. One of the leading United States journals representing American agriculturists has recently admitted such to be the case, giving as a reason for it that there is something deteriorating to pure-breed sheep in the circumstances of American farming, if not in the air of most districts, which renders it absolutely necessary that for the sake of purity fresh blood should be imported from England. This is, of course, good news to our flock-masters, for the United States breeders have in the past been good customers, especially for Southdowns, and even now they take a great many Shropshire, Oxfordshire, and Hampshire rams. Some of their geographical situations are, however, well adapted for Longwool sheep, for which not only have Cotswolds been in demand, but apparently the Kent variety likewise, while there is strong probability that after the Devon Longwool men have perfected their registration system, they too may have United States custom.

There can be no doubt that pedigree sheep breeding in this country is one of the most profitable branches of agriculture; indeed, without it there are large numbers of farmers who would be unable to make any livelihood whatever. Pedigree cattle breeding and that of high-class horses are remunerative interests also, but sheep breeding suits the bulk of tenant farmers, and is more remunerative for them than any other interest, and consequently ought to be promoted in every way. There is an old proverb that sheep have golden feet, which means that wherever the imprint of their feet is made, fertility springs up behind. Owing to this, sheep have always been utilised when the highest objects of remuneration have been their mutton and wool. Now that a still greater source of profit is laid open to view by adopting pure-bred instead of common varieties, every farmer who breeds sheep will no doubt see it to be his interest to get his flock to the greatest height of perfection of which it is capable, and to the extent his pecuniary resources will allow him to aim at.

No doubt the latter has more to do with it than is commonly supposed. Not every farmer can afford to attend a high-class autumn ram sale and give 80gs. or 100gs. for a ram, yet without some enterprise of this kind there is no breeding of sheep calculated to take the fancy of foreigners. Our flockmasters who have their custom have been breeding a long time, and brought their flocks to a high standard of perfection. If a ram has to be carried across the seas several thousand miles, he is required to be one of the best—one that will carry the fame of his breeder to the foreign country where he is taken, and create a greater value for the flock to which he is affiliated. Thus the English farmer has to move upward gradually step by step, unless he has abundant capital to buy the draft stock of old, celebrated flocks. Nevertheless whether a man of means or not, he will find it to his interest to improve his flock to the utmost he is able by the infusion of pure blood.

THE SUGAR QUESTION

A meeting of sugar makers took place on Saturday last to discuss and take into consideration the project for an arrangement between them and the Sugar Trust. Amongst those present we noticed the following: Messrs Mauricio Mayer, Manuel Garcia Fernandez, Otto Bemberg, Vicente L. Gallo, Ambrosio Romero, Ambrosio C. Nogues, Francisco Bustamante, Simon Chavanne, Clodomiro Ledesma, Pedro C. Mendez, Francisco Bolla, Juan Videla, Juan Posse, and Ricardo Day. Business began by the reading of the project in which it is proposed that the Sugar Trust be reconstituted, and that sugar makers who are not members of the Trust be admitted.

The Sugar Trust will, according to the new project, receive all the sugar crop of 1897-98, and will advance money in pagarés at 4, 8, and 12 months in sums varying from $2,25 to $2,50 per ten kilos of 1st class sugar, 96° not under, or powdered sugar. This advance is fixed, that is to say, that if the Sugar Trust realizes at a loss, it cannot fall back on the producer to recoup.

Each sugar producer shall take $20 in shares of the Sugar Trust for every thousand kilos of sugar.

On the winding up of the Trust, the capital, will be returned to the shareholders plus 8% interest to start from the date on which they made their payments to the society. The surplus, will be distributed amongst the producers according to the quantity of sugar sold to the Trust.

The maximum production of sugar will be limited to 120,000 tons per year, the quantity to be produced by each manufacturer to be fixed by special committee.

The Sugar Trust will export all the sugar it receives, with the exception of 20,000 tons which will remain as a stock until the liquidating of the society in 1899. The manufacturers who produce over the quantity fixed for each of them by the committee, will have to give it to the Trust in order that the Society may export it, but without charging them a commission. The Sugar Trust enters the new Society with the balance already published as a basis. The above project was unanimously accepted, and a committee was then appointed to draw up the final project, or in other words to frame the contract between Sugar makers and the present Trust.

PROFESSOR PENNINGTON AND PASTEUR'S PROPOSALS.

To the Editor of THE STANDARD.

Sir,—

The rabbit pest in Australia has not yet been overcome. In many districts the vermin is increasing. The remedies in general use are phosphorised pollard, poisoned water and pit traps. Experiments, however, are now being carried out in Queensland by inoculating rabbits with the virus of chicken cholera. This is Pasteur's proposal, and, according to a report just issued from the Government Printing Office, Brisbane, by Mr. C. J. Pound of the Stock Institute, the advantage of Pasteur's system is superior to all other methods, and will no doubt be universally adopted. It is not so dangerous to other animal life, is easily prepared, less expensive, and one rodent killed with chicken cholera willl fatally affect many others, a single rabbit spreading death and destruction through a whole warren.

It is interesting to know that at the Stock Institute, Brisbane, there are a number of rabbits kept in confinement for experimental purposes; many of them were trapped away in the back blocks, where a long line of wire netting fence has been erected; some of these animals were found to have developed claws at least a quarter of an inch long, and crawl up the wire netting of their cages with the greatest of ease.

Yours, etc.,

A. W.

MULREADY ENVELOPES.

May 8th.

To the Editor of the STANDARD,

Dear Sir,

Having seen an inquiry in to-day's STANDARD as to the value of a genuine Mulready envelope, I will relate my own experience.

Finding I was the possessor of two of the aforesaid envelopes, and hearing a few years ago that they were then worth in England about £80. I sent one home, but the friends to whom I entrusted it, after making due inquiries, found it was only valued at "three or four" pounds, and so returned it to me, but it is possible my friends may have been misinformed.

I am dear Sir,

Yours truly,

A Regular Subscriber.

THE IRISH ORPHANAGE.

A committee meeting of the Irish Orphanage took place at the Orphanage, at Calle Rio Bamba, on Sunday afternoan, at 2 p.m., Dr. O'Farrell in the chair. Amongst those present we noticed the following: Messrs. James Carthy, P. Ham, D. Suffern, John Moore, M. G. Byrne, F. W. Dolan, James Feeney, N. Fitzgerald, J. Fitzsimons, Luis Greaven, Michael Duggan, Dr. Murphy, Dr. Gannon, etc.

After considerable discussion, and on the recommendation of the sub-committee entrusted to study the plans, it was decided to accept those presented by Messrs. Inglis and Thomas as the most economical and the best.

The committee then passed a vote of thanks to those other architects, whose plans were presented, but could not be accepted for one reason or another.

The Sub or Building Committee will now call for tenders to build the new orphanage from said plans, which for architectural beauty, general distribution, comfort and hygiene compare favourably with anything in the shape of public buildings hitherto erected in this city.

The cost, with the keys in the door, will be $150,000.

We congratulate Messrs. Inglis and Thomas on their successful plans, which call forth much praise from all who have seen them.

Leaving an available balance of....	33,601	19	7	27,279	12	8

The Directors recommend that this balance of £33,601 19s. 7d. be disposed of as follows:—

That a dividend of 2/- per share, free of Income Tax, be paid, absorbing £26,000,-14s.; that £5,000 be placed to the credit of Reserve Fund, and that the sum of £2,601 5s. 7d. be carried forward to the next account. With the interim dividend of 1s. 6d. paid in October last, this will make 3s. 6d. per share for the year 1896.

The receipts shew an increase of £32,160, and the expenses an increase of £21,772. These figures are almost entirely due to the reduction in the gold premium, so that they do not represent the actual result of the traffic. There has been, however, an increase in the receipts in national currency.

The average gold premium for the year was 197.17 per cent, as compared with 244.30 per cent for 1895.

About 14 miles of line have been renewed during the year, with steel girder rails, at a cost of £17,860, of which £5000 has been charged to this year's Revenue The Company's proportion of the cost of Municipal Paving during the year amounted to £15,470.

The service has been increased to the extent of nearly 16 per cent, while the passengers carried shew a small decrease of about ½ per cent. This increase has been rendered necessary by the new municipal tramway regulations, which restrict the number of passengers per car. This naturally entailed a larger service to carry the same number of people, and will explain the increase in the rolling stock, stud, stabling, car sheds, and the cost of new land and buildings shewn in the Accounts for the past year.

The new Depot and Workshops at Caseros are well advanced, and new machinery has been ordered to enable us to build all additional rolling stock required, thereby saving the very heavy duty and freight, which add so materially to the cost of imported cars.

The Directors have to report with great pain, that Mr. J.B. Wanklyn, who, for 22 years, had acted as the Company's representative in Buenos Aires, met with his death on the 6th inst. Owing to his retirement from active business, and his return to this country, he had resigned the post he had so long and honourably held, only three weeks before the sad and tragic occurrence. The Board, personally, and on behalf of the Company, tender their heartfelt sympathy to the family in their bereavment.

The retiring Directors are Lord Richard Home Browne, and Henry Doughty Browne, Esq. The Auditors, Messrs James and Edwards, also retire. All these gentlemen are eligible, and offer themselves for re-election.

THEATRES AND AMUSEMENTS.

The ball given by the Zither Club on Saturday in honour of Mr. Munding of the firm of Mallmam and Co., who is on the eve of leaving for Europe, was a splendid success Shortly before the ball was opened, Mr. Hoelle, President of the Club addressing a few kind words to Mr. Munding praising this gentleman's untiring efforts on behalf of the Club, begged him to accept the ball given in his honour as a token of esteem and friendship, not only on his behalf but that of the whole Club.

Mr. Munding's health was drunk in Mr. Hermanns famous Rhine Wine during supper, and the company broke up when Aurora made her appearance. All the guests wished Mr. Munding "bon voyage, and a speedy return.

The large audience that attended the piano recital given by Herr A. L. von Rebeur-Paschwitz in the Operai Italiani last night, experienced a rare treat. Herr Rebeur-Paschwitz is a pupil of Listz, and does wonderful credit to the teachings of the great master. His touch, execution, and great command over the instrument, stamp him as one of the very best pianists that has ever made his bow to a Buenos Aires audience. This was shown throughout the recital, but most completely so in the "Fantasia sobre motivos de Wagner" and "Rhapsodia Hungara No. XII" by Liszt, both of which pieces were received with prolonged applause, and encored. The next recital given by Herr Rebeur-Paschwitz will be eagerly looked forward to.

According to the very latest advices from England, Fregoli has created such a wonderful sensation, that Baron Rothschild had constructed a theatre in his house, for the express purpose of allowing his friends to be entertained by this marvellous monologist. Fregoli, in himself has been sufficient to crowd the Alhambra nightly, and the Londoners have gone mad over him. He will appear at the San Martin in the course of next month.

To-morrow night at the Politeama they will repeat the remarkably comical piece "Il ratto delle Sabine", in which Novelli, in the part of Tromboni, appears at his very best, as a comedian.

"Noche de Moda" at the Skating Rink to-night, when there will be a special and very attractive programme, including races amongst amateurs.

The Comedia is producing novelties almost every night, and every one of the new pieces is worth seeing. "Un Joven Simpatico" was received last night with every sign of approval, and "Maniobras Militares" is such a success that it now has a permanent place in the programme. To-morrow the company will give "Escuela Musical," a piece that has been received with the greatest applause in Madrid very recently.

The grand Opera season opens to-night in the Opera House where Ferrari's excellent Troupe will make its debut in "Gioconda". The cast is well up to the mark comprising De Lucia (Enzo) Carmen Bonaplata Bau (Gioconda), Guerrini (la cieca), Berlendi (Laura), Sanmarco (Barnaba) and Rossi (Alvise) a fine bass. The last three singers are new to the Buenos Aires public as this is their first appearance here. The orchestra will be directed by Com. Mascheroni a sufficient guarantee in itself for the success of the opera.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The cold snap in the weather, the prospect of an end to the war between Greek and Moslem, the Soar of the Gold Eagle, the debut of Ferrari's opera company to-night, the San Luis political powwow, the conflicting opinions about President Uriburu's Message to Congress, etc., etc. contributed to keeps things moving yesterday in the busy haunts of men in this big shop of a city. There was really nothing new of importance in any quarter. Top coats and "tapados" were the order of the day, owing to the slump in the thermometer.

Nobody in the Clubs and coteries seemed to have the slightest inkling last night as to who is to be the new Minister of War. The name of Dr. Zapata was mentioned, but we should say that the excellent gentleman knows as much about military matters as he does of boot-making Why not appoint the best man—General Capdevila?

Beware, readers, how you buy Lottery tickets, except in the most respectable "agencies". The forging fraternity have, for the moment, abandoned bank notes and taken to imitating and falsifying Lottery tickets. Above all, beware of the innocent-looking urchins who enter the tram cars and offer you tickets—"El grande; el ultimo billete que me queda"!!

A Torchlight Procession on the night of the 24th, and, we suppose, of the 25th also, is one of the patriotic ideas of the Rt. Honble. the Lord Mayor in connection with the Fiestas Patrias. It's a good one, and won't cost much.

There was a rumour last night, in reference to the patriotic flare up in B.O. that the three armies (so called) of Borda's Government had caught Lamas in a trap and surrounded the White Rose forces, nobody believed a word of it.

The Deputies scraped up a quorum yesterday, named their several Committees, and broke up, to enjoy themselves at 4.30 p.m. Half a dozen letters were received from Deputies of the provinces saying that they cannot turn up till the middle of the month, owing to ill-health and "urgent private affairs"!! One of these precious representatives of the people begins the session by asking for leave of absence from the first ten sittings! What representatives the people have!

The Opera House will be in a blaze of silks, satins, diamonds, face powder and beauty to-night. The same faces, fans and "fracs" as for years past will be seen in the "palcos," and stalls with the addition of some few lovely "debutantes" in both. That's all. Same old thing year after year. Same thing in all countries under the sun, "que voulez vous?" Gioconda is the opera. Some of the singers are new to the Buenos Aires boards; others old favorites.

We shall feel much obliged if Mr. Horace Wheeler will kindly favour us with a call as early as possible to-day, and bring with him some of the pamphlets with maps of his great scheme, which would; make this port the finest in the world but which Congress has persistently postponed considering for so many years, although it would not only not cost the country a red cent, but would reclaim an enormous area of land from the river, half of which would go to the Government and half to the "empresa", besides bringing $50,000,000 gold of fresh money into the country.

We find the following in a New York exchange:—"The following characteristic letter of Nelson, believed to be unpublished, is in my possession:

Albermarle, New York.
Nov. 14th, 1782.

Dear Pilford: Since I saw you yesterday, I have changed my mind about appointing Edwards as boatswain, but will ask Lord Hood to give him the rating in some other ship; this I hope will do as well. I am to dine with the Admiral to-day and very likely shall not be on board till nine. Will you sup with me at ten? I will speak with you about Ross and what can be done; my interest at home you know is next to nothing, the name of Nelson being little known; it may be different one of these days; a good chance only is wanting to make it so.

Yours sincerely,
Horatio Nelson."

Excessive taxation always brings its own punishment, and the brains and dodges of the "contrabandistas" are superior to all the precautions of the Custom House. There is a monstrous home tax of 50 cents per ten kilos on Argentine yerba, grown in Misiones, so the growers simply send it to Brazil or Paraguay, and it comes back as foreign yerba, paying only 15 cents gold per ten kilos. A very simple operation: but the difference between the two taxes cannot leave a very extravagant profit.

What speculation in all shapes and forms the Diamond Jubilee has given rise to at home. Under the title of the Diamond Jubilee Contract Corporation (Limited) a new venture has been brought forward with a capital of £30,000, in 29,500 Ordinary and 500 Deferred shares of £1 each, of which the former constitute the present issue. The corporation has, it is stated, secured some of the "grandest positions along the line of route of the procession," and proposes to take advantage of the opportunity to realise quick gains by the letting of seats, &c.

A trick has been played on our excellent contemporary the Ilustracion Sud Americana, by some evil-intentioned persons who have sent anonymous circulars to many of our colleague's readers announcing changes in the paper that are purely imaginary. It is a silly and shabby trick. The police are looking into the matter.

Those of our readers who remember Miss Lucy Carr, one of Frank Brown's circus troupe here in 1893, will be sorry to learn that she has just met with a terrible death at Capetown. She was cleaning her gloves with benzine, and held them over a candle to dry them; they took fire, and, to extinguish it, she plunged her hands under the bed clothes, this set fire to them to her dress and to the whole room, and she perished in the flames A terrible death.

We feel great pleasure in welcoming to these shores Colonel Trueman, Major Woods, Captain Peters and the other officers who have come out to purchase remount horses for the British army. The gallant Colonel was formerly commander of the 7th Dragoon Guards, but now holds a high post in the War Office. He and his brother officers have for mission to take a good look at the Argentine Horse, and see if the game little brute is strong enough to carry British troopers. The younger officers that have come with him are all splendid Polo players, especially Lieutenant Lane, and intend to challenge our local teams during their stay; so our sporting readers may look out for several treats in this line. Crowds of English residents went to the Royal Hotel on Sunday to welcome our gallant visitors.

An exchange says:—"Röntgen Rays have been so much abused since their discovery that little surprise need be expressed at a growing feeling of resentment on their part. They have been put to all sorts of undignified purposes—tried as hair-restorers, vaunted as corn-curers, and appropriated by unauthorized persons for objects unworthy of their real scientific utility. Now the X Rays are having their revenge. It is found that they are capable of inflicting great injury on the hands of those who operate them. The rays are much more powerful than is generally supposed, and their deleterious effects may in some cases become quite serious. They are not confined to the cuticle, but penetrate to the deeper tissues, even to the periosteum and bones. If the lesion extends at all deeply, it leads to the formation of ulcers, which are extremely intractable, due, perhaps, to irritating particles still present in the tissues. X-ray operators who develop any special idiosyncrasy are therefore advised by experts to abstain from their use if they find that the slightest deleterious results follow an exposure to them."

The horseless motor cabs will soon be gliding about town. Miras, the undertaker, has brought out a number of them. They will be pleasanter vehicles to ride in than those he usually provides the public with.

The Epworth League entertainment. "The Poet Laureate in Story and Song" in the Lecture Hall of the American Church to-night promises to be very enjoyable. The lecture will be given by Mr. A. Watson Hutton M. A. The quartette will be composed of Mrs De Grys, Miss Forster, Rev. W. F. Rice, R. Harrison. The soloists will be Mrs De Grys, Rev. W. F. Rice, and Miss Maude MacLean, violin. Admission is free by ticket. Tickets can be obtained at the English Book Exchange, Calle Florida, at the English Literary Society, 119 San Martin, or at the American Church. A collection will be taken for the British and American Benevolent Society.

ON 'CHANGE.

Monday, May 10th 1897.

Gold Premium

First Ring.....	201.00
Second Ring.....	199.20

The ambient on'Change to-day was decidedly pessimistic, probably over the change in the current, which has veered round very sharply and determinedly. Why the optimism of yesterday should be pessimism to-day it is difficult to see, as when all is said and done, there has been no change for the worse. Rather the contrary, the Honest Message shews without glamour or subterfuge, bush-beating or shilly-shallying, the main outlines of the situation, without attenuation, concealment or exaggeration; and it can hardly be pretended that under such conditions the situation could have been expected to shew up so favorably as it does. Nor is the advance in gold an alarming feature either. That it may mark a growth of pessimism is only too probable, but the change is a return to normal conditions, which, paradoxical as it may seem, under the circumstances, is highly satisfactory. If with exchange below par, and business paralysed alike in exports and imports, commercial failures a daily feature and credit thus naturally much restricted, gold were to have continued falling, it would have been a financial phenomenon. Then there would have been cause for alarm, as it would have meant and reflected a condition of distress far more severe than, we are willing to suppose, exists. It would have meant inability of the importers to remit a cent, which would have been so wholesale as to warrant almost a panic; but fortunately things have not quite reached that stage just yet; not a single importing firm has, so far, gone to the wall, and though remittances will naturally be slower than usual, there will always be something going forward. As to the future course of gold it is difficult to hazard any very defined opinion, but we may give it as the general impression that if Congress will only be rigorously economical in its sanction of expenditure, and monastically abstinent in the matter of paper issues, the premium instead of expanding will contract. The actual bullish tendency of gold is partly the reaction and partly the offspring of apprehensions generated by rumours set afloat to that end.

Though gold was very brisk at the first hour, abnormally so in contrast with the late sluggishness, it will be noted that the business for dates is still quite insignificant, the market being still on the hand-to-mouth footing. For June and July there is next to nothing doing. The cash rate opened spinning at 298, ran quickly up to 300, then fluctuated between 299.50 and 300.50, spun again upwards to 301.50, after which it settled down, to close at 301. For the end of the month the pass started at 50 cents and expanded to a point. In stocks the only feature of note was the purchase of some National F's which were taken up at 87.50 to 88, in spite of the rumours about fresh issues, which with any kind of foundation, would put prices down. After the hour gold was done at 300.50 cash.

The following is a summary of the business effected at the first ring to-day:—

$ 331,000 cash at 298-298.50-298-299-299 50-300-299.50-300-299.50-300-300.50-301-301.50-301-300-50-300-300.50-30 50-80-301.

Mr. Hampson, estanciero of B. Blanca, who has arrived back in the Danube, was welcomed to-day. The English Military Commission for purchase of remounts has installed itself at the Royal Hotel, and has already been interviewed by our native colleagues, whose enthusiasm has been considerably damped by the news that the Commission expects to get troop horses at $50 and officers' chargers at $100 each.

We see from the report of the Buenos Ayres and Rosario Railway for 1896 that despite a decrease of 66,220 tons in the grain trade the receipts from this source being £36,768, or 30 per cent, less than in 1895. Goods traffic brought in £32,414 more, and coaching receipts rose £51,286, the entire gross gain being £91,833, or 14.40 per cent. Notwithstanding the rise in the currency, the working ratio fell from 51·31 to 50·22 per cent., the additional expenditure amounting to £39,163—£22,038 of it due to the appreciation in the paper dollar—and leaving the increase in net revenue at £52,670. The dividend for the year is 3 per cent, against 2 per cent for 1895, 1½ per cent for 1894, and nil for the two preceding years. It is hoped that the locust plague will not reduce the 1897 dividend to the 1895 level; for the loss to date is only £22,272, and, as most of the wheat traffic is already over, the probability is that the weekly returns will in future compare more satisfactorily with those of last year. The general manager is not greatly disturbed by the locust visitation, though he deplores it greatly. "Though the results from our grain districts this year will be bad," he writes, "there is no reason to believe that the reduction in our traffic will be more than temporary, and, as I have before pointed out, our railway serves such a large area and draws traffic from so many different sources that the failure of one item, even though that be a principle one, as in this case, must not be taken too seriously." The report contains particulars of certain proposed alterations in the articles of association to bring them into accord with special resolutions affecting the capital account proposed at the meeting and carried, the feeling in London to-day being so favorable that all capital for industrial enterprise is readily forthcoming.

We congratulate Messrs. Erausquin and Cano on the success of the sale of live stock in Merlo yesterday, in spite of the deluge and the fearfully muddy state of the country roads. A special train left the Once Station at 9.20 on Sunday morning, taking over 300 people. Arriving at Merlo, the large party was taken to the scene of the fair. The building for sheltering the cattle is a large galpon, not yet entirely finished. This shed gives access to a number of boxes, in which were a fine set of horses, steers, sheep and poultry. Nor were the visitors' comforts neglected, for they all sat down to a sumptuous breakfast, after which the sale began. The sale realized $46,848, and will continue on the 23rd inst. Amongst the animals sold were 80 mestizo Durham heifers belonging to Mr. Atanasio Ceballos. These fetched $55 per head; 50 Durham bulls, 3 to 4 years old, at $66 each; 21 mestizo Durham cows at $50 each; 34 milch cows at $33, etc., etc. Buyers Messrs. Paez, Bengolea, Ibarra, Iturralde, Elizaté, Albin, Ferrari, Gonzalez, Morran, Malcolm, Ponce de Leon and Almeira. Messrs. Erausquin and Cano propose to keep a permanent market for the sale of cattle from the west parts of the Province of Buenos Aires at Merlo, and thus meet the requirements of districts which are fast developing. Cattle breeders in that part of the Province will no longer be compelled to send their animals to Buenos Aises for sale, for they pay heavy freights, and then probably get only a poor price for their stock.

The following lucubration is from the Financial Times "We have had an opportunity of discussing Argentine Banking conditions with a gentleman who has had many years of practical experience of them. At present we do not propose to go into the matter in detail, but one interesting question seems suitable for these notes. Our informant was referring to the plague of locusts which has played such havoc in the Argentine, and the question was put to him as to how the devastations caused by those plagues would affect the Banks. His reply was that it would not do so this year, though it might next year, when the urban merchants came to suffer from the resultant effects of this year's depredations. In the preceding sentence we had almost described the locusts as "insect pests," but we refrained on remembering that when we asked him about the size of the locusts he illustrated his reply by giving us their approximate length, that of the handle of a crutch-stick umbrella. This led to some conversation as to the nature of the business undertaken by the "foreign" Banks, and elicited the information that such business is mainly confined to the towns—that is to say, these Banks are chiefly concerned with export and import business. The inland Banking necessities are for the most part supplied by the National Bank, which has absorbed nearly all the provincial Banks, and whose capital consists solely of Government issues of notes. In other words, it has no real capital at all. To carry on such business as we understand banking would require enormous capital, and would involve very great danger of lock-ups. The Argentine "estanciero" has no idea of meeting his obligations when they fall due. He takes it for granted that bills will be renewed as often as he desires, and if he comes to grief in the long run, he simply shrugs his shoulders and expects commiseration for his misfortune. Therefore, the English Banks apparently avoid that class of business as much as possible. The British Bank of South America is said to go in for it more than the others, and this may possibly afford some explanation of the extremely unsatisfactory report which was so tamely adopted by the shareholders the other day."

Now for downright stupidity this takes a double first. Shades of Mark Twain, spare the gentleman of many years practical experience of Argentine private banking! Imagine the estanciero being set down as the cause of a collapse—the estanciero, the man with money in both pockets, and loose cheques "por si acaso"—the estanciero, nothing if not solid, who astonishes the English market with his absorption of their "very best" stock paid cash down on the nail—the estanciero who talks of his land by the 3 mile-square, and his stock not by the head, but by the thousand—the estanciero, who is the back-bone of everything, buys and sells cash, thrives and is independent of everybody—this the man to put banks in difficulties. Absurd! and that is how history is written and learned in London. If the estancieros were in that plight, we might well pass the word to drop the curtain and say "Adios Argentina, thy day is done". But fortunately it is not so, and our colleague knows very well that the losses sustained by the British Bank were not here, but in Brazil. Never an estanciero did it, but the plausible wily exchange broker, and the bigger the British Banks' connection with the estanciero interest the more sclid its position. Our friend of the matured experience must surely have got it the other side of the Equator, or mistaken agriculture for the grazier interest, meaning the farmer and saying the latter. At all events he can congratulate himself on never having made a bigger blunder.

A lot of exceptionally heavy bullocks was loaded on the King Edgar on Saturday last in the Madero Port. The average weight was 765 kilos, one special animal giving 940 kilos. These were bought from the estancia "Sta. Maria" of Goñi and Lorda Hnos., by J. G. Swan and Co. who shipped them.

The German packet sailing on Wednesday takes a long list of passengers, amongst them many friends, who will just find old Europe in full bloom on their arrival. Amongst them are Mr. Linck, of Linck and Co.. Mr. Ebbinghaus, partner of Maynzhusen and Co., Mr. von Bernard, partner of Bracht and Co. Dr. Carlos Berg, director of the National Museum, Mr. Duckwitz, son of Mr Duckwitz, many years ago partner of Mr Napp in the hide business, Don Gmo. Davison, Mr. Otto Schmidt, Don Enrique Paats, son of our merchant prince, Don Guillermo Paats, and wool buyer for the firm, Mr. Roth, of Roth and Co. San Nicolas, merchants and estancieros, Mr. von Wulffon, grain buyer for the firm of Bunge and Born, and others. The full list will be found in another column. The packet also takes gold, though how much will not be definitely known till the boxes are placed on board. It goes to Berlin for account of a private bank.

Gold was much slacker at the second hour, though it would be hazardous to say that there is any change in the tendency, as the undercurrent is for a rise, and the relaxation merely a steadying movement consequent on covering operations. It should be borne in mind that the price had stiffened up steadily from 288 to 301¼, so that a slight reaction, which may possibly be continued to-morrow, is not out of course. There is no big speculation on foot, and the fluctuations therefore are not so violent. At the second ring gold opened at 300.30 advanced 50 cents and then breaking back to 298.80, closed at 299.20. A fair business was also done for end of month at about 50 cents pass. After the hour the cash price was 299. In stocks there was the usual lethargy, Catalinas being flat at 7. Some Spanish banks were done at 127 and National F.s at 88.

The following is a summary of the business effected in stocks and shares at the second ring:—

The cables from Washington announcing a hitch in the passage of the Tariff Bill through the Senate was much commented on to-day in the hall, and it seems that the Chamber will not accept the dictamen of its Finance Committee without a good deal of discussion and probably material amendment. It is even hinted that if the Committee does not give way the passage of the Bill will be so obstructed that it will probably see the session through. This is consoling news if true, and in any case the opposition is certain to be stiff. We shall go further into this tariff question in our next issue.

The cables from London announce "a pessimistic impression over the Message and commercial depression." This is admitted to be the fruit of the Times correspondent's gleanings here, but surely there is nothing very new about the depression, whilst as to the pessimistic impression it cannot be got out of the address, which is truthful and reassuring. If our colleague knew more about the commercial crisis and the situation in general, such a qualification as pessimistic might be warrantable, but it is to be presumed that it does not. How could it know secrets, such as the payment of a great part of the administration in arrears, probability of the Custom Revenue shewing a steady decline, because the the houses can no longer sell on credit, and must, therefore, curtail the imports, exchange collapsing and gold taking leave. All this is not to be gleaned from the Message because it has no place therein, but it is what we have to face the winter with, which is the rub. The Government can show a strong hand because it has always the wonderful vitality of the country at its back to bring it out afloat in the long run, but the market has to consider such immediate and imperative considerations in making up its impressions and has good reason to be pessimistic, if this means looking forward cautiously. The depression undoubtedly exists, but so long as our banks and leading houses are strong and immovable there is little danger of the cloud threatening a storm. After all it will be a pinch to get through the winter and then unless adversity again strikes hard, it will be plain sailing on a summer sea.

In a recent number of our lively, well written and well informed colleague The Journal of Finance we see a notice to effect that in future the weekly issues will be abandoned in favor of monthly ones. No change is contemplated either in the policy or essential features of the paper save in one respect, and that is the publication of a goodly number of signed articles by leading authorities. We wish our colleague every success in its new shape.

Exchange is simply as flat as a pancake and nothing doing. One bank was taking to-day, but with rates as they are this cannot be continued, though neither, of course, are rates likely to drop further, which means gold shipments. These are already starting. We quote—

London 47⅛d.
Paris 4.97½ fcs.
Antwerp 4.98½ fcs.
Hamburg 4.05 marks.

The bank rate is 47⅜d.

There was rather more demand in discounts to-day and more doing, rates unchanged.

The Rio rate is slightly improved, being cabled 7¾d.

The Fundings are cabled to-day at 86, combed B wool down to 3.60 and wheat to 28s 3d. Maize is quoted at 14s and linseed at 30s.

The produce markets were very dull to-day, a mere bicoca done in wool, say 150,000 kilos which shews how slow things are going. Maize keeps firm and wheat in demand. Hides are rather weaker.

The following is the specie movement to-day:—

The Minister of Finance has fixed the price of gold for payment of Customs-dues at 299,50 for Tuesday, May 11th.

GENERAL.

A colleague printed in English tries to deny the veracity of the news published by us in our shipping columns of the 8th inst., referring to the damage done to the tug Linda Elisita in colliding with the German s s Corrientes, but to no purpose, inasmuch as the tug in question is in the Baradero, Riachuelo, Vuelta de Rocha, undergoing repairs. The Corrientes is expected to-morrow or the day after, also to undergo repairs, as she too was damaged in the collision.

The Italian s s Ducca di Galliera, which left La Plata for Genoa on the 8th inst. only arrrived last night at Montevideo last night, owing to the heavy storm. She will probably leave that port to-night for her destination.

The Italian mail boat Nord America is expected in La Plata to-morrow or the day after.

The Italian ss Duchessa di Genoa left Genoa for La Plata on the 8th inst. with passengers and general cargo.

The Port Authorities granted sailing permits to the following vessels to-day: Tucuman for Hamburg, Homer for New York, Gerda for Santos, Chingford for Dunkerque and intermediate ports and barque Auburndale for New York via Rio Janeiro.

The British ss. Shillito is expected here to-morrow from Rosario to complete her cargo.

Mr. Marsham, President of the Wreck Commission Court, delivered, at the Vestry Hall, Greenwich, the judgment of himself and two assessors in the case of the steamship Salado, of London, which ran ashore on Lundy Island, in the British Channel, early on the morning of March 21 last, during a dense fog. The ship, which was bound for Buenos Ayres from Newport, was laden with coal, and carried a crew of twenty-two all told, and three passengers. She became a total wreck, but there was no loss of life. The Court found that the ship had been navigated at too great a speed, considering the state of the weather, that the lead had not been used with sufficient care or frequency, and that allowance had not been made for the effect of the tides. The certificate of the master, James M. Raimie, was accordingly suspended for three months.

The Miguel Mihanovitch steamer Vaca arrived up from Patagones yesterday with a full cargo of wool, skins, hides and 2000 bags of salt for the Rio Negro Salt Co. Ld, She brought up a crowd of passengers, among others Don Manuel Crespo, ex-Juez de Paz of Patagones. They report the state of affairs in the valley as very flourishing, sheep and cattle rolling in fat, and the camps in splendid condition.

It Stands Alone!

As the snow-capped summit of an isolated mountain peak, all a-glitter with the slanting sunshine, compels the gaze of the dweller in the valley, so does the exalted pre-eminence of Quaker Oats challenge the intelligence of the whole of Christendom. There it stands! over-topping, overshadowing all competition, with its wide-extended base of genuine merit resting upon the popular approval of a whole world, and its cloud-reaching superiority reflecting the crowning glory of honorable success. Quaker Oats might well serve as the text from which to preach a sermon on "The Reward of Real Merit," for only by reason of its inherent excellence has it become "The Aristocrat of the Breakfast Table."

It has been said that, "The man who succeeds in making two blades of grass grow where only one grew before, is a public benefactor." How much greater the achievement of making a dime equal to a dollar in purchasing power! Quaker Oats has done this, placing within the grasp of the wealthy and poor alike, the greatest health food and dietary delicacy. In the mansions of the rich, in the cottages of the poor, in princes' palaces and in dingy tenements alike has Quaker Oats become a household word. To the epicure it is a dainty morsel to tempt the surfeited appetite, to the dyspeptic a solace, and to the poor man a pleasant economy, offering to him and to his whole family a most healthful and nutritious diet. Small wonder then, that Quaker Oats has met with the universal indorsement of intelligence, and that to-day it stands Alone! the recognized standard of excellence, a synonym for a good breakfast, the people's choice.

"94 Commercial Road, Peckham, July 12th.

"Dear Sir,—I am a poor hand at expressing my feelings, but I should like to thank you. Your lozenges have done wonders in relieving my terrible cough. Since I had the operation of 'Tracheotomy' (the same as the late Emperor of Germany, and unlike him, thank God, I am still alive) performed at St. Bartholomew's Hospital, no one could possibly have had a more violent cough; it was so bad at times that it quite exhausted me. The mucus, which was very copious and hard, has been softened, and I have been able to get rid of it without difficulty.—I am, sir, yours truly, J. HILL."
